An exceptionally healthy harvest, uniform ripening and extremely consistent quality from the different parcels. A winter of minimum rainfall and a spring without any notable frosts up to budburst. A wet and cold May complicated flowering. A calm harvest started sooner than ever on September 5 in order to maintain freshness and balance.

Perfumed, very expressive, concentrated ripeness and refined aromas with predominance of red fruits. Full-bodied, opulent, creamy, with tamed tannins and long finish with echoes of minerals.

San Roman 2011 was bottled in February 2014 after spending 24 months in French and American oak barrels both new and of one wine. An impeccable San Román.
