VINEYARDS

Located in Morales de Toro at an altitude of 700 metres above sea level, the vineyards are planted on ungrafted vines, with sixty-year-old vines of Malvasia Castellana, grown organically on a sandy soil.

VINTAGE

Winter and spring were mild and rainy, with light and persistent rainfall until the end of April. This constant supply of water during the development of the plant increased its vitality and verdure.

Minimum and maximum temperatures were moderate throughout the cycle. Summer was late and mild, and the smoothness of the berries was maintained until the harvest, which took place on 28 August, accompanied by dry and cool weather.

WINEMAKING AND AGEING

Once the grapes were selected and destemmed, the must was macerated with the skins for twelve hours.

During the night, it was naturally racked and then transferred to 500-litre barrels, where it fermented with indigenous yeasts. It was aged for ten months with periodic lees stirring until its bottling in July 2021.

TASTING

Complex and incisive nose with a fine contribution from the oak, citrus notes and herbal undertones. Precise and full on the palate.

PRODUCTION

3,270 bottles and 22 magnums.
