SOILS Stony and sandy clay.

A rainy cycle with rainfall well distributed throughout the year. Budbreak was rapid and full after a mild winter. May started with thunderstorms and continued with mild temperatures that allowed early flowering and an excellent fruit set. After a hot July, the thermal contrasts between maximum and minimum temperatures increased, which favoured tranquil ripening until the start of the harvest at the end of August.

A nuanced nose of pronounced minerality and a fine fruity character, fresher than in previous vintages. Concentrated and opulent on the palate, with firm tannins, showing great balance despite its youth.

Bottled in November 2022 after spending 24 months in new and used 225 and 500-litre French and American oak barrels.
